SOME AS MY MITSUI BUSSAN KALSHA FAMOUS OLD HOTEL.

Where Scott and Byron Met for the Last Time.

Long's Hotel, 16," New Bond-st.-one of the most famous establishments of its kind in London-which has been in existence for over a century and a half, has closed its doors. On the front entrance is written notice asking visitors to "ring bel at side," but no other intimation that the hotel's career has come to an end. The literary associations of Long's are very interesting. Here Byron and Sir Walter Scott met for the last time in 1815. . "Es director lunched with me," wrote Scott, "At Long's Hotel in Bond st. I never saw him so full of galety and good humour, to which the presence of Mr Mathews, the comedian, added not a little. Poor Terry was also present."

LONG 5 AND STEVENS While there can be no doubt that at one time Long's Hotel was a great gambling and betting centre during the Regency, says a correspondent of The Times, was noted for refinement and family comfort in contrast to Stavons's at No. New Bond-st., which had an entrance, in Clifford-st., opposite Long's. Stevens's during the Regency was the head-quarters for officers of the Army and men about town; and Capt. Gronow tells us that if a stranger wanted to dine there he would be stared at by the servants and very solemply assured that there was no table vacant. In later years Stevens's became scarcely more than an annexe to Long's. Hotel, glad to receive its surplus visitors. A few years ago Scevens's Hotel, where during the seven or eight years before his MANILA: Messrs Macondray & marriage Byron occasionally lived, ceased to exist. Up to the last, in spite of the rebuilding of the place a quarter of a contury ngo, Ling's Hotel preserved much of the character and atmosphere of the oldfushioned London hotel of half a century

An interesting company gathered at Long's in the old days, and there are in existence three volumes entitled "Six Weeks at Long's," written by "A Late Resident," and published in 1817. In the preface the author states: "The public may contend as much as thuy please whether I print scandal, or the whole world talk scandal - that is, whether the loadest or lowest voice should be considered as the greatest offender. Sure I am, that many of the personages recorded in these volumes will feel (if they should giess who I am, and several of them must, though they will put their fingers on their lips for certain reasons) that I have not inflicted on them half the chastisement they deserve at my hands." The writer, opens the first chapter with a description of Bond-st., and adds that it boasts of Long's Hotel, "a spacious edifice, dedicated to the accommodation of any family who can pay for it." A COSTLY BREAKFAST. Records show that then, as now, human nature was much the same, and that there were times when guests did not pay. For instance, a newspaper published early in the last century gives the following report: Long, proprietor of Long's Hotel, Bondst., sued a young man in the Court of King's Bench for £314 for dinners and refreshments incurred between March and September 1819." The melancholy information is added: "Defendant when pursuing this ruinous course of luxury was a minor, and the jury found for defendant." But in another case brought by the proprietor plaintiff was more successful. The claim was for £187, the amount of a bill for hotel accommodation. Counsel for defendant argued that there was one charge in the bill which would doubtless immortalise Long's Hotel—it was for a breakfast, and the following were the component parts; Breakfast, 3s.; four newlaid eggs, 2s.; chicken and tongue, 2s.; and plovers' eggs, 2s,—thus amounting for one man to 9s. Another charge was for the legs of a chicken, 1s. 6d. The jury, however, found for the proprietor, and awarded him £180 damages. The hotel has had its viciositudes of fortune since its palmy days, but its disappearance will cause a pang of regret.

WHAT THEY ARE SAYING IN

T's moment when the whole world's A attention is rivetted on Italy in her troubles with Turkey, the following ex-tracts of opinions which have recently appeared in the Italian newspapers should be of especial interest.

Dr B. Sorrentino, Municipal doctor, of Naples, writes:—"I am pleased to be able to confirm the excellent results obtained Matheson & Co., Ltd. with Dr Williams' pink pills. In my Dorre, Norwegion str., private practice I have again to report four cures of persons suffering from Amemia, persistent headaches, nervous exhaustion and menstrual derangement."

Amemia, used them and was cured in a very short space of time. I consider these pills one of the most efficacious medicines known to present day medical science." Dr Erminio Cervio, on Torro de Bust, writes:—" From among all the patients I have cured with Dr Williams' pink pills I give below my experience with two.

eighteen years of age. Sho was suffering from Chloro-Amenia, her mother being ilso amemic. After every meal she had nausen and sickness, and she was worried by headaches. At nights her sleep was disturbed; she always felt more tired in the morning than at night. After trying several treatments without result I prescribed Dr Williams pink pills. The result Swire.

was surprising, for after using the contents of only four bottles all the symptoms Heibow disappeared. She is now strong, cats well and digests her food.

by gloomy thoughts and had become a misanthrope. I placed him under the pink pill treatment and he quickly gained in strength and became more cheerful. He is now quite well again."

The many members of the medical pro- Kurongsang, for Canton. fession in all parts of the world have set Coblens, for Manila and Sydney. aside their well-known projudice against Telemachus, for Saigon.
expressing approbation of advertised Haltan, for Swatow and Foochow, remedies in favour of Dr Williams pink Curonia, for Amoy and Rangoon, pills for pale people is but additional proof Yushun, for Canton.

That the ever-growing confidence shown by the general public in this famous remedy Kleist, for Shanghal and Yokohama. during the past twenty years is not mis-placed. Obtainable from high-class pharmacists everywhere, these pills can also be Euplectela, for Balikpappan.

UNREST AT MACAO.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Macao, November 30. It is currently reported that a couple of days ago a native who represented himself as a dismissed member of a piratical gang 40,000 strong, made up mostly of the recently liberated convicts from the Canton prisons, sent word to the Macao Government that after tackling the West River Mr and Mrs Dolliver. Mr C. E. Young, and environs the Band would make Mache Miss H. Clarke, Miss D. McKie, Miss K. their next point of attack.) The main items on their proposed programme were first an assault on the telegraph offices, next on Government House, then on the Banco Ultramarino. Further that the assaults would be attempted at daybreak. His information has so far been verified by the late repeated operations against versels Col. C. L. Lochheimer, Mrs Laura Sayer 727 late repeated operations against versels plying on the West River. Certain it is also that there is a notable increastrange faces in China Town. There is been no scenes, of rowdyism here similar
